

SUMAA NEWSLETTER

Hi everyone. We're now moving into the second half of 2022, and if you haven't yet got going on any projects that you had planned for the year, this could be the time to start.

There are many important dates coming up this month, but Thai-language learners will be especially interested in National Thai Language Day, which is celebrated on 29 July. When people first begin to learn Thai, they often feel that pronunciation, writing, spelling, and in fact everything about Thai is really difficult! But after a little while, they begin to realize that in fact it's not just fun, but interesting too.

IN 2019, THE MINISTRY OF CULTURE RECOGNIZED SUMAA FOR OUR WORK SUPPORTING THE THAI LANGUAGE.

So to celebrate National Thai Language Day, this month, we've prepared a special episode for you, and we've carried out a little experiment to see whether Thais use the same words and expressions to describe different things.

CHA-YEN ?
CHA-NOM ?

THŪN-SĀY ?
THŪN-RŌN ?

Check it out here !

